

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the finding and the analysis of the data that writer found from the novel and concluded in the Chapter IV, the writer put forward some conclusions as follows:

The writer found out that the signs that can be found in the novel can be analyzed with a semiotic approach. The method that the writer used to find the answer to the question of this paper is by finding the signs of the data that the writer could found, then determined whether the signs are considered as an Icon, Index, or a Symbol then, by using Peirce's theory of semiotics and triadic model, the writer tried to find a relationship from the signs and the objects to found the interpretant of the data.

There are a total of 24 data that the writer found in this novel. From these 24 data, the writer can conclude that most of the signs in this novel is are Indexes, 17 indexes, 5 symbols, and 2 icons. In brief, the research result provided in the Chapter IV is a proof that the triadic concept of Peirce's theory can be used to interpret the meaning of signs that showed up in the novel.

5.2 Suggestion

Based on the result of the study, the writer realized that there was a lot of imperfection and mistake in this paper and, some corrections are needed in order to accomplish a better analysis but, The writer would like to suggest that the theory of literature work, especially subject that have a relationship with a semiotic theory should be intensified among students of the English Literature Department and the writer also would like to suggest for the university to enroll some activity that will improve students' interest toward reading a literature work should be implemented in order to further ease the process of making a paper that have the same theme as writer's paper.
