

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter discusses the conclusions to be discussed along with the suggestions that will be given after the author conducts an analysis of social criticism in this I Feel Pretty movie.

5.1 Conclusion

The views of the surrounding community regarding the main character by giving impolite treatment with various scenes that occurred. This view makes the main character feel insecure but on the other hand he also tries to do sports at the gym to change her body shape. The existence of beauty standards that exist in America makes inappropriate treatment happen. It makes those who feel isolated also feel that they are not seen by others. The treatment that should exist from others is to be kind regardless of body shape and existing beauty standards. The impact of good treatment from other people is mostly sweet, because the growing confidence by the people around makes Renee also feel a burning confidence, after all, beauty is not only about what is seen on the outside, an intelligent brain is also one of them. Love and belonging are felt by everyone including Renee and Ethan, because it makes one of the encouragements in being who you are. Having a partner can also increase self-confidence that seemed lost before.

5.2 Suggestion

The movie I Feel Pretty tells the story of a woman who is insecure about her fat body and the view most people have of her. For this insecurity, it mostly occurs in various countries and cities because of the high standards of beauty that exist. The social criticism from most of the people actually makes them even more insecure to the point that they probably don't want to see other people anymore because they are afraid of what they are talking about.

After analyzing this movie, there are several moral messages that are tucked away that readers should know. First, the definition of beauty itself is not only about body posture, about skin color, about height and many other things, because actually the definition of beauty is within oneself, by doing good, with a smart brain, broad-minded, having a good attitude, can respect others and much more. Second, when we believe in ourselves, we will get the slightest good opportunity because we dare to get out of our comfort zone and start a new life based on that confidence. Third, when we have good treatment we will have sincere friends with us and guys who love us because they do not see what is outside but what is inside like our hearts and can respect each other.

What happens in this film is that there is consciously or unconsciously discrimination against the main character. Everyone wants to be the most beautiful and attractive, but nothing makes us able to ask for what it looks like, everything that looks outside is not necessarily the same inside, and vice versa, what does not look attractive on the outside does not necessarily have an unintelligent brain. Every human being has his own portion, every deficiency must have an advantage, no human is perfect because even the perfect one only has God.

The author suggests that readers should watch I Feel Pretty because it is very interesting especially for those who have the same problem. Also, the author would like to suggest that researchers to be able to conduct further research on other aspects to be able to find other interesting and unique sides of this film and can provide maximum results or can also provide comparison results that can provide readers with new knowledge and insights.

SYNOPSIS

This movie tells about a woman named Renee who has a fat body and is obsessed with being beautiful. Renee tried various ways to be beautiful, namely by registering and doing the gym, learning to style her hair on youtube. Because Renee's physical condition makes it seem like no one else sees it. Renee often seems to be discriminated against others, Renee feels that no man will approach her, Renee feels jealous when she sees another woman who is perfectly beautiful, easy to approach by men and easy to make men fall in love. Renee also has a desire to work in a company called Lily LeClaire and serve as a receptionist, but Renee realizes that with her body shape it is impossible to get a job there.

Previously Renee worked at Lily LeClaire as well but only in the Online Division and she did not mix with anyone else. There Renee was alone with Mason and the place was like underground away from the crowds. Until finally Renee had an accident at the gym which made her hallucinate. Renee woke up from the accident and after looking in the mirror she saw that she had changed a lot, she felt that her stomach was tight, her thighs were also tight, her body was good, her cheeks were thin, and she felt that she had changed instantly, when in reality Renee was still the same Renee as before. That incident made Renee's confidence rise a lot. Renee becomes confident to look sexy, Renee feels that all men will approach her, Renee is confident about what she will do in the future.

Until time goes by when at the laundry Renee meets a man named Ethan, there Ethan asks for Renee's number, but what Ethan means is the queue number not the telephone number, at that moment Renee immediately thought that this is what it feels like to be a beautiful woman and Renee too asked for Ethan's cellphone and immediately entered his number there. Finally after several dates they fell in love with each other. At first Renee thought Ethan was falling in love with herself who was in a hallucination, in fact Ethan fell in love regardless of Renee's form because Ethan liked Renee, her kind heart and good thoughts.
