

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

There are two things covered in this chapter. There are conclusion and suggestion. The conclusion will be based on the research findings and suggestion will lead the further researcher on the same fields.

5.1 Conclusion

After the analysis has been done, the writer concludes if MLTR song lyric used a lot of figures of speech. The song lyrics consist of 8 phrases that used figurative language. The analysis has two objectives, the first is to find out the number of the types of figurative language that dominant ly used in MLTR song lyric, and the last is to discover which types of figurative language that most frequently used in MLTR song lyric.

The most frequently used of figures of speech are Hyperbole and Paradox. The song lyric has 2 of metaphor, 3 of paradox, 3 of hyperbole, 1 of simile. However, the researcher didn't find any phrase used irony, metonymy, personification, understatement, allusion in this lyric.

The literal meaning of this song tells about the dishonesty of a girl to her lover. It tells the story of a man who loves his girlfriend very much. But the girl wanted to part with him for no apparent reason. Unfortunately, the man didn't want it to happen. There are so many the girl's promises and sweet memories he could not forget. Finally, they must be separated because he is not a man loved by the girl.

As the result above, there are two types of figures of speech are the most frequently used in this study. Based on the analysis, a hyperbole and paradox are the most dominantly used figurative language in this research. By using hyperbole, the author tries to heighten the audience emotions by adding 'love' drama or humor to the phrases. And also using a paradox to reveals some truth

From the analysis, the author mostly used figurative language in his song lyric to express the thoughts and feelings that are difficult to communicate using a literal language and feelings. So, it would be easier for them to express feelings and thoughts by using figurative language. It can be concluded that figurative language has important roles in this song lyric. That is why the author used phrases that have figurative language in the song lyric. It makes the lyric more appealing, and also helps the audience to imagine the story of the song, to imagine the character based on the illustration that the author has already given in the song lyric. So, that the imagination created by the audience is still in context of the song story.

5.2 Suggestion

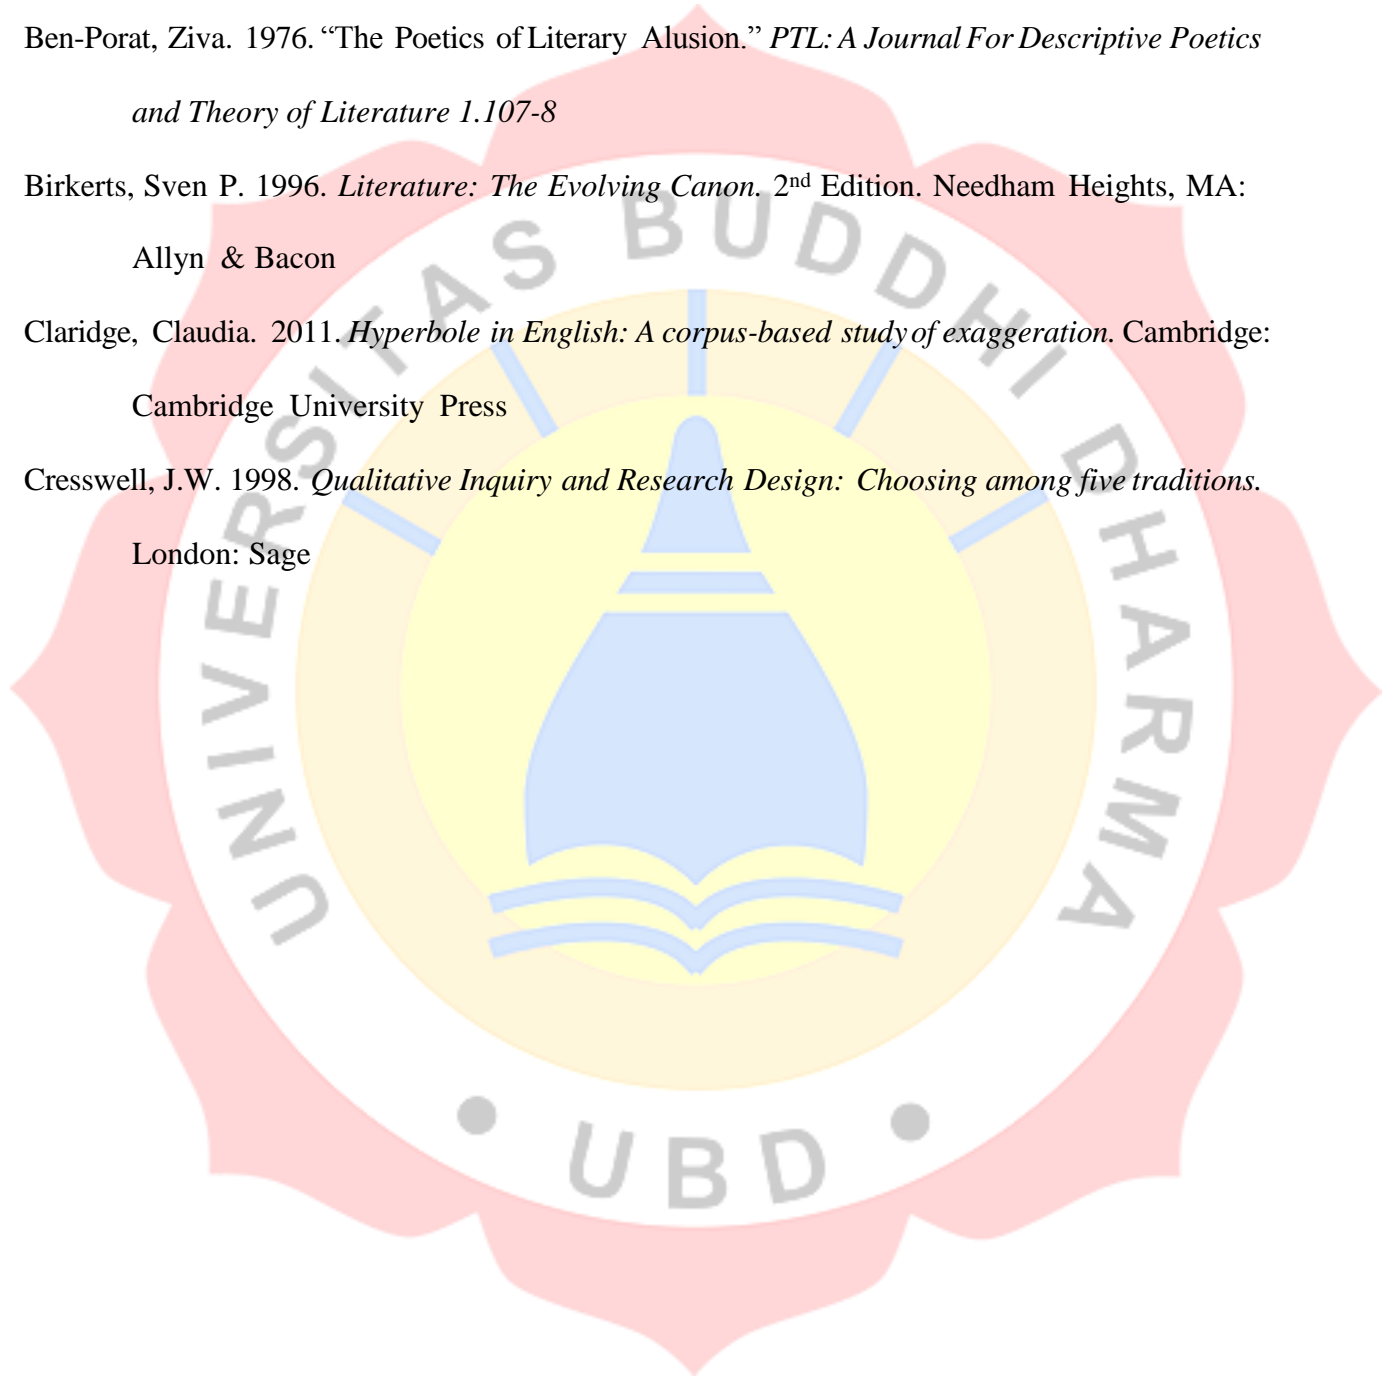

The writer can suggest for future research that writers can use different theories with the same data so that all types of figurative meanings found in this MLTR song lyric can be discussed totally.

The writers can also conduct research on different data with different theories so that the readers know the difference of the roles of figurative language in literary work such as a novel, to the figurative language used in advertisements, songs, etc.

So, the audience can understand the figurative language, the types of figurative language and understand the function and the roles in a literary work well. Furthermore, the audiences will no longer have difficulty to interpret the meaning of the sentences that used figurative language. on a different level of meaning with 'tricky' phrases.
